To evaluate the role of latent Epstein-Barr virus infection in nasopharyngeal carcinoma. A clinical case of non-keratinizing undifferentiated nasopharyngeal carcinoma in a 12-year-old girl was studied. The study included immunohistochemical analysis of latent and active virus proteins and DNA sequences from the tumor. It was concluded that the tumor was triggered by latent EBV in nasopharyngeal epithelium.Q: How to display message when the input type text field changes I have a input type="text" which I like to display a message when user changes the input value. If I hardcode "200" in the input it'll show error. Javascript: $('input-sizer').on('input', function(e){ if (this.value == "200") { alert("this should be shown"); } }); A: This happens because the browser considers typing and modification of the value when the change event is fired. $('input-sizer').on('input', function(e){ if(e.target.value === "200") { // Your code goes here } }); Edit As the comment suggest, e.target is the element that received the event. As MDN say: The value of e.target refers to the element that dispatched the event. If the event was not dispatched by an element, e.target is undefined. This is

Description of the Related Art Endoscopes are used to observe the internal organs of a subject. This type of endoscope includes an insertion portion that is inserted into the subject. The insertion portion includes an illumination window for illuminating the subject in addition to an observation window for observing the subject. In addition, the endoscope includes a surface state sensor for obtaining information about the surface state of a window of the insertion portion, such as whether the window is sufficiently cleaned or not. The surface state sensor is used to detect foreign substances that may be adhering to the window of the insertion portion. The surface state sensor detects foreign substances present on the surface of a window or the state of the surface of the window (e.g., whether the surface is clean or unclean) by illuminating the window with illumination light that is irradiated from the illumination window and detecting the reflection light of the illumination light that has been reflected from the surface of the window. An endoscope disclosed in Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2008-296812 is known as an example of the above-described endoscope. The endoscope disclosed in this publication includes a light-emitting device for emitting excitation light (illumination light) on 50b96ab0b6
