Just press any key while Wolfs Dungeon Game is open. FUCKING SHIT!!!!. *DISCLAIMER: Wolf's Dungeon is a rogue-like/platformer hack/mod based around a humorous comic book series by Rick and Morty. All characters, places and events in this hack/mod are owned by their respective authors, artists, and companies. This hack/mod is not affiliated with them in any way. Wolf's Dungeon is licensed under the GNU GPL. Version 2, actually, although that wasn't that obvious when I wrote that. This mod's public release was June 14, 2017, although it was in the making since at least January of 2016. There's a mod by the same name that's here. It was made a few months ago, and has had an active dev for the past month. And there's a nametag that I made, but it doesn't work. It's not just a placeholder because I didn't know how to make a nametag. That was the reason I decided to make my own game, for real. You know, most of the one-man teams are like, "Mm-hmm. Sure, I can do that." They're just hardcore and don't give a fuck. But I've seen that a lot of you don't trust me. Yeah, I've made some joke mods before, but this is the first time I made a serious hack/mod. I've been trying to get onto this forum for like a year, I've been trying to get a dev team. I've asked on some sites. I've done stuff like that. But my problem was, a lot of people, they don't like what I do. They don't like that I'm supposed to be a dev and all that shit. They're like, "You're never gonna make it as a dev," and then that shit makes me sad, because I know I can be a good dev. But it's like, I don't have the drive, I guess. But now, this is my full-time thing. I've just got a bunch of scripts on here and that's it. But, I wanted to share this with you guys. It's my first time. But anyway, this hack/mod was made with the idea that I wanted to do like a comic book. So like, the enemies are like, a
